

COLLECTED WORKS - PUBLIC RECORD - LIVING LEGACY

Dr. Denguhlanga Julia Kapilango

A permanent public record of literary, artistic, faith-rooted, educational, technological, civic, and economic community-building contributions.

80	6	2026
VERIFIED RECORDS	COLLECTION AREAS	FIRST EDITION

Homage to Black Excellence - First edition - Verified July 28, 2026

The work remains.

This collection preserves Dr. Kapilango's contributions to Black American family healing, food sovereignty, caregiving, digital literacy, creative expression, congregational life, leadership development, public service, community rebuilding, economic community development, and civilization building.

Every entry contains an independent title, role, date, description, significance statement, source location, rights statement, and permanent archive identifier. When an outside website changes or disappears, the documented work and its meaning remain within this edition.

How this catalog is organized

The catalog is arranged by collection area. Each category begins with a divider followed by its permanent records. Public links provide source access; they are evidence pathways rather than the sole record of the work.

Preservation Statement

This first edition is a high-confidence public-web inventory. Deleted pages, private social posts, unindexed broadcasts, closed databases, and local media archives may contain additional material. New findings should be added through the same archival structure and assigned new permanent identifiers without changing the identity of existing records.
